ELKIN 2026: International Conference on Electrokinetics

ELKIN is a renowned biennial international symposium and platform for scientists, engineers, and industry professionals to exchange the latest advances and ideas in the field of electrokinetics. ELKIN 2026 aims to bring together experts from academia and industry to bridge the gap between fundamental science and industrial applications and spark real-world impact.

ELKIN offers the opportunity to shine a light on your organisation among the world's foremost researchers and professionals in the study and application of electrokinetics. Explore the sponsorship packages designed to reinforce your organisation's image, network, and branding.
